Little River Turnpike Comp'y

At the annual meeting of the Stockholders in the Little River Turnpike Company, in the town of Alexandria, on the 15th January 1817—it was Resolved, That for the purpose of en-

From the Philad. Mercantile Advertiser.

WHITLOW'S LECTURES ON

BOTANY.

We congratulate our fellow citizens on the return of Mr. Whitlow to our city. Having been present at his introductory lecture, we make free to observe, that the delight expressed in the countenance of his auditors sufficiently proved, that they enjoyed not only the beautiful objects presented to their sight, but also the treat exhibited to the eye of the mind, in the scientific observations of the lecturer; and his intimate acquaintance with medical, chemical, and vegetable affinities. To the lover of science, we earnestly recommend these lectures to their attention; as the admirers of the arts may not have the opportunity of again witnessing so many, and such beautiful productions of the pencil for many years.

The study of nature is the basis of religion, national wealth, and power.

This we have seen exemplified in the Jews. While they led a pastoral life, under their judges and shepherd kings, they were invulnerable against every attack of their numerous surrounding enemies; and no period of their history exhibits to us a greater display of national wealth, than when they lived a simple life, like that of the patri-archs; and they may be said to have arrived at their acme of glory under the luxurious Solomon; and the principal part of their national wealth centered in the metropolis. Indeed, in the primitive ages of the world, previous to the epoch of the revelation, mankind, in general, appear to have no other guide to direct them to a knowledge of the existence and attributes of the Deity, than the contemplation of his works. Those, indeed, exhibit such evident proofs of his power, his wisdom, and his goodness, as were sufficient to convince rational creatures that a self-existent and infinite Being was the source and origin of all existence. These St. Paul so well understood, that he condemned the Gentiles, because, after having recognized the Supreme Being in the works of creation, they neglected to worship him, and considers them as inexcusable.

"because," says he, "the invincible things of Him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made—even his eternal power of Godhead."

The study of natural history, particularly the vegetable kingdom, is of the utmost importance to the youthful mind, will give the young student a view of the wonderful works of God, and inspire exalted notions of his essence, his attributes and his agency, in the formation and disposition of the universe. This study is also both easy and entertaining, and appears con-

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF

THE REVOLUTION IN BRA-

ZIL.

Documents promulgated by the Provisional Government of Pernambuco.

[TRANSLATED FOR THE BALTIMORE

PATRIOT.]

Narrative of occurrences which took place at Pernambuco since the glorious revolution happily concluded in the place of Resife on the 6th of March, in which the generous efforts of our brave patriots exterminated, in that part of Brazil, the infernal monster of royal tyranny.

After having tried our patience by a system of administration combined only to sustain the vanities of an insolent court which oppressed our legitimate rights, it remained now to calumniate our honour with the black appellation of traitors to our friends, relatives and countrymen, natives of Portugal. This was perhaps the only thing wanting to the insidious policy of the extinct government of Pernambuco.

The perfidious governor began to receive our sincerity, proclaiming publicly on the 5th of this month that he was the undissembling friend of the inhabitants of Pernambuco; that he loved them with all his heart; writing his deceptions with the same pen from which he had just issued in secret, from his cabinet, lists of proscription, by which he was to deliver into the hands of certain persons the Brazilians of every class the most magnanimous and noble youth of the country, the bravest officers of the army—in a word, the sons of the country of the greatest hope and of the greatest personal merit.

At last, on the 6th of the present month, the doubts of many honorable patriots were dissipated. Their families found themselves in tears. The perverse governor called a council of officers, and jealous of our glory, and after settling with them and others the condemnation of their innocent victims, he sent forth those who appeared to him best qualified to execute them.

Some escaped to the barracks—some to private house; the prisons were prepared, and they began to forge the chains with which they were to entangle our good compatriots, one after another.

Here we could show that we had capacity enough to discover that disobedience is as greatly to be appreciated as heroism in some cases, and that is, when the cause of the country is saved by it. A brave captain gave the signal of duty to every one, by destroying the principal agent of this diabolical undertaking. The people ran to arms; and the few hours of the same day were sufficient to begin and conclude that happy revolution, which appeared rather a festival of peace, than the tumult of war; an evident mark of this being the work of Providence, and the benefit of God

Almighty.

The late general withdrew to the fort of Brum, where he thought to find a place of defence; but where he found a prison for himself and for his associates. He had recourse to peace proposals, which were terminated by convention, to which he was obliged to agree, on the 7th inst, at 6 o'clock in the morning. Immediately public order was re-established, and no other cries were heard but general acclamations worthy of that day on which an immense people came into the possession of their social legiti-mate rights, and in consequence, there has not been till now a single disturbance, nor any motive of complaint.

At 8 o'clock the provisional government was established, composed of five patriots, taken from different classes, and this government has been always regular in its session. Its first intention was to free our countrymen of Portugal of every fear or apprehension with which they might be disturbed by the partisans of tyranny, receiving all of them with open arms, and securing their families, persons and property from every kind of injury, suffering them to continue in their commerce, trade and occupations with the greatest liberty as before; and proclaiming, by a manifesto, the sentiments of the government and of the people, declaring, that there would not be henceforward any distinction between the Brazilians and the Europeans, and that they were to consider themselves as belonging to the same family, with equal rights, with the same inheritance which is the general property of this province.

At 9, every thing was in the same spirit of concord and general pacification; and the people were sensible of no other difference but the goodness of the government, occupied solely to promote the interior and exterior security by proper means, endeavoring to perfect their operations by trusting them to committees of the greatest importance, composed of persons of the most extensive capacity, acquainted with every branch; by which means they have also obtained the greatest possible popularity to their deliberations.

That same day the government was in session until 12 o'clock at night, to complete several dispatches, which will be promulgated this day; one of the most important of which is, to establish the public functionaries in their business as before, without withdrawing any of their occupations; to prescribe the forms of usage, without admitting any other title than that of you (vos) even with the government; and to abolish certain modern impositions, manifestly unjust and oppressive to the people, without any advantage to the nation, &c. &c.

And such is our political and civil state to this date, the 10th of March, 1817.

Long live the country! Long live the patriots! Down for ever with royal tyranny!

FOR SALE,

A tract of Land containing 357 acres, more or less, lying on Occoquan Bay in the county of Fairfax and state of Virginia, adjoining the lands of Robert I. Thompson and William Mason. It is presumed those desirous of purchasing will view the land and for themselves judge of its peculiar advantages. One third of the purchase money will be required in hand, the balance at 12, & 18 months, with a deed of trust to secure the payments.

Thompson F. Mason.

December 14.

Land for Sale.

A tract or parcel of Land, containing between two and three hundred acres, on the north side of Occoquan, in Fairfax county, about 5 miles west of Occoquan mills. It is well watered with never failing springs, it is also well timbered, and the great quantity of fur timber on it renders it the more valuable to any person in the cooping line. This land is of the middle soil, and produces corn, wheat or any other grain tolerable well—there is about 100 acres cleared and under good fence. The improvements are a good dwelling house & other out houses, and a good apple orchard of about sixty trees.

Also, One other tract in the same county, within three miles of Occoquan, lying on Sandy Run, containing 47 acres—one half in cultivation and under good fence, the remainder heavily timbered. There are on the premises an old framed dwelling house and out houses and an apple orchard of eighty bearing trees.

Any person inclining to purchase can view the premises and know the terms by applying to the subscriber who lives near them.

Benedict Property for Sale.

Will be offered at public sale on the premises, on Monday the 5th May next, if fair, if not the first fair day thereafter—

ALL that very valuable Estate in Benedict, late the property of John Forbes, Esq. deceased, comprising the town, (with the exception of 3 lots) and 80 or 100 acres of Land attached thereto.

The many advantages this situation affords to mercantile men scarcely has a parallel, combined with an excellent navigation, and convenient store rooms and warehouses for the transaction of business—in a rich and extensive neighborhood, heretofore depending for supplies on that place.

In addition to that beautiful improved lot formerly the residence of Mr. Forbes, are several Dwelling houses in good repair, one which has been occupied for some time past as a tavern. The above property will be sold either by separate lots or the whole together as may suit purchasers. A long credit will be given by securing the payment of the purchase money. Sale to commence at an o'clock A. M.
